

Hai-Xin Wu

Assistant Concertmaster, Detroit symphony Orchestra
Walker L. Cisler/Detroit Edison Foundation Chair

Hai Xin Wu joined the Detroit Symphony Orchestra violin section in July 1995 and was appointed Assistant Concertmaster in June 2004. He has since performed no less than dozen times as the featured soloist with the DSO. He previously performed throughout the United States, Europe and his native China. In addition to performing with the DSO, he regularly plays with various Chamber Winds and Strings and the Cuttime Players.

As an avid educator, Hai Xin has given masterclasses in numerous Universities and Conservatories throughout the world. He is currently on faculty in the Wayne State University Music Department in Detroit and a violin and chamber music coach for the Detroit Civic Orchestra. He earned his Bachelor of Music degree from the Manhattan School of Music as a full scholarship student.